What's the Buzz?

Jamee Andelin, Your Turned On Desire

Working with Jessica was such a relief for me. I had spent years building my business where I help women who are struggling with low libido in their marriages. But I was feeling burnt out and not able to sustain all the parts of my life and business on my own. Jessica had already been listening to my podcast and providing value for me to share on my social media, so when I broke down and realized I needed help to keep things rolling, she was the one who came to mind as someone I could hire for support.

It has been such a relief to have her working on my business in the background. She is listening to podcast episodes, writing emails, creating posts and also available for me to chat about any ideas I have. And while she is running things behind the scenes, I have been able to be more present in my personal life and taking care of my own health and wellness. I'm writing this testimonial from a hotel room where I've just slept about 24 hours in two days! Hiring Jessica has really shown me that it doesn't have to be me running the whole show! As I lay in my hotel bed gazing out the window, pondering the business I've built and the women I'm helping, I'm over the moon grateful for Jessica and the energy, time and heart that she has put into MY business. She really is a supporter of women and she just gets it. She understands everything women have to juggle. She just knew and understood the help I needed so that I could help others. See what I mean? Jessica was a gift of relief when I needed it most.

Andrew Biggs, Better than Rich

Because of her and her company and what she's been able to do for us, it's pretty much been a social media "plug and play" and because of that, our presence and our audience and our numbers have consistently grown. We've had a few things go viral, which has been really cool and it's really due to Jessica and the work that she does with her company. So if you're ever questioning whether or not you should work with Jessica, question no more, dive right in, you won't regret it.

Peter Miceli, MGroup

My time working with Jessica Sanchez D'Emic was an experience that I will truly value for some time to come and it gives me great joy to know we were part of a great team! Jessica is not only extremely talented at what she does, but is a great listener and has the ability to draw out ideas and concepts that I may not have been able to and then utilize them in a way that best projected my brand, who I am and how I can help current and potential clientele.

Working with Jessica was always a pleasure and at times when rescheduling was necessary, she always demonstrated great flexibility in acknowledging, not only my business deadlines and demands but always showed concern for me personally as well.

It is a breath of fresh air to work with someone so down to earth yet so in tune with the pulse of the social media and marketing world! I truly received incredible value and my online exposure is better today now that we have worked together.
